Hi Nic,

It was a great trip and one of the very few cases, when I have got new impressions in the sea after 23 years of diving.

WE FLEW 30+ HOURS FROM MEXICO EXPECTING TO HAVE A GOOD EXPERIENCE; INSTEAD, WE HAD A TRULY FANTASTIC AND MEMORABLE ADVENTURE, FULL OF ADRENALINE, NATURE, NEW EXPERIENCES, GOURMET FOOD AND ALL THE GOOD THINGS THAT SOUTH AFRICANS STAND FOR.

THE SARDINE RUN IS A MUST FOR EVERY DIVER AND/OR NATURE LOVER. I HOPE IT LASTS FOREVER SO THAT OUR SONS AND GRAND SONS HAVE THE FORTUNE OF WITNESSING IT.

"This is my 3rd consecutive year to travel from the US to the Wild Coast to experience the sardine run. This year was my best ever. We were blessed with good weather and the animal activity was outstanding. We had tons of whale activity, no pun intended. Dozens of humpbacks each day, and this year we also had quite a few Brydes whale encounters. We routinely had hundreds of common dolphins and got in the water on numerous occasions with super-pods. Of course, the main reason we all go is to witness bait ball activity and this year was great. Numerous large bait balls and unbelievable bird activity. To say it's quite exhilarating to have thousands of gannets dive-bombing the sardines just a couple of feet away is a huge understatement. Being in the water when the sharks, dolphins, whales, and birds attack the sardines is truly a privilege and just about the most exciting thing a scuba diver can experience. Once again, SEAL delivered and I'll be making my reservations for next year soon".

Nic, just a quick reply to say how much I enjoyed the Sardine Run trip. It really was everything I'd hoped for and more. The action, from the very first day, was awesome. The massive bait ball, the sharks, super-pods of dolphins, and snorkelling with hump-back whales (oh, and a penguin rescue thrown in for good measure!). What more could you ask for, except beautiful sundowners, and microlighting, which were thrown in as well!

Special mention must go to Debbie and Andrew from Seal 4. Their professionalism shone through and meant we all had a great, but safe, time out on the water. They were always on hand with any information we needed, and that was greatly appreciated. Please pass my regards and thanks on to them.

So, all in all a fantastic trip. Thanks to you and your team for such a great experience and I hope it won't be long before I see you all back in Africa again.

Take care,

Nicola Gunn – London, England
